

THE COAST.

A Railroad Rate War Inevitable.

THE LOS ANGELES BOOM.

The Canvass of the Sixth Congressional District at Last Completed.

[Special to the Herald by the Associated Press.]
SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—There is so much hanging on the result of today's meeting of the San Francisco Passenger Association that little else is talked of in railroad circles. That the meeting will be stormy is a foregone conclusion, and that it will not result in an agreement all agents fear. The immediate question at issue is the division of territory. The Atlantic & Pacific now denies the right of the Southern Pacific Company to make rates to Chicago and other Eastern points, via New Orleans, on the same basis as the roads running via Kansas City and Omaha. As the tariff now stands a passenger can buy a ticket to Chicago over the Southern Pacific and Illinois Central lines via New Orleans at the same rate that he can by the Atlantic & Pacific via Kansas City.

LATER.—The meeting of the San Francisco Passenger Agents Association today resulted in the disruption of the association. The Southern Pacific refused to amend their rate sheet as demanded by the Atlantic and Pacific, and also refused to consent to a division of territory. There is now no agreement in existence for the maintenance of rates and a rate war is inevitable.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

The Canvass of the Congressional Vote Completed.

SACRAMENTO, December 22.—The Secretary of State completed the canvass of the Sixth Congressional District as follows: Lynch, 18,204; Vandever, 18,259; Harris, 21,259; Kinley, 15. This completes the canvass of votes and the Governor has signed the commissions of the successful Congressmen.

ROBBED.

A Ship-Carpenter Sand-Bagged in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—Fred Brockman, a German ship-carpenter from Coos Bay, left his lodgings, on Folsom street near First, last evening and came up town for amusement. He visited the Bella Union Theater and left there at about midnight. He started to walk toward his lodgings, as he supposed, but being unacquainted with the city lost his way. He wandered up in the Barbary Coast district and about half an hour after leaving the theater he noticed two men following him. The next thing he knew he was struck on the head, and then he knew no more until three hours later, when Police Officer Farlow found him at the corner of Mason and Francisco streets, and took him to the receiving hospital. There he was found to be out severely on the head and bruised about the body. He searched his pockets and found he had lost about $100 and a check for $573. He has no idea who his assailants were.

NOT IN STOCKS.

Senator Fair Denies Speculating in Mining Stocks.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—The following paragraph has been reproduced in some of the Nevada and other newspapers: "The Salt Lake Tribune quotes Bradstreet's as authority that Senator Fair was forced to settle with Mackay and Flood the other day to the tune of five million dollars, he being 'short' on the stock market." Senator Fair's attention was called to-night to this statement. He pronounced it not only absolutely untrue but devoid of the slightest foundation. "I am not a speculator in mining stocks, and I am at a loss to know how so important a journal as Bradstreet's could have made itself the author of so false a statement."

Will They Adjourn for the Holidays?

SAN LOUIS OBITUARY, December 22.—In the middle will contest today Dr. G. B. Nichols testified that he had considered the testator eccentric in his lifetime, but shrewd in business. The decedent began to weaken in mind and body a year before he died. J. B. Mulcahy, W. E. Flynn and R. H. Shields, from San Francisco, testified against the will of the testator. Detective Jos. Bee, of San Francisco, testified to having been acquainted with Mrs. Plummer and to her good reputation and character. Also to the good reputation of two of the contestant's witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Swaney. J. C. Johnson, formerly city editor of the Call, testified to thirteen years' acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Swaney and to their good reputation during that time.

The Los Angeles Boom.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—M. Welch, southwestern passenger agent of the Texas & Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Welch says that during the past thirty days fully 8000 excursionists and regular passengers have arrived at Los Angeles by all of the routes. The rush of travel is early for the season, but will be much heavier in a few weeks. Mr. Welch states that two San Francisco scalpers are about to open offices in Los Angeles. He says the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe is working with the scalpers already in the field, and is depending upon them for its business out of Los Angeles.

A Big Purchase.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad has purchased all the ties numbering 50,000, in the famous Gales Gulch, San Mateo county, and will at once commence hauling them to Pigeon Point, where they will be shipped to San Diego.

Will Report Favorably.

SAN LOUIS OBITUARY, December 22.—Capt. Thomas, of the United States engineering service, is at Port Harford making an investigation of the surroundings in order to report fully to Congress his opinion regarding the project of building a breakwater there. The Captain's report will be favorable.

EASTERN.

Disaffection Against Mr. Powderly.

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

An Embellisher Pardoned—About Geronimo's Surrender—General News from the East.

[Special to the Herald by the Associated Press.]
CHICAGO, December 22.—District Assembly, No. 24, Knights of Labor has appointed a committee of five, which is engaged in an investigation of the stockyards strike, and it is asserted to-night with seeming authority that the reason for the investigation is that District Assembly No. 57 (the packing-house employees assembly) has caused a secret boycott to be issued against those of the Chicago packers who were particularly hostile during the late strike.

Two district assemblies, 24 and 57, embrace nearly all the Knights in Chicago and Cook county. District Assembly 24 and the Seamen's Support Assembly 136, it is said, were asked to support No. 57's boycott. The intention of District 57 (a packing town assembly) is to inaugurate as nearly as possible a general boycott against several of the packers and make it permanent. The action of General Master Workman Powderly in declaring the strike off and ordering the men back to ten hours, it is asserted has led to strong local movements to have him summarily disavowed from his present position. It is claimed that a special session of the Knights' General Assembly can be convened upon a call issued by five district assemblies from five states. Those favoring the movement say that four other assemblies beside No. 57 can be secured beyond doubt and that such a call will be made in this connection. It is stated that T. P. Barry and W. Carleton, the two members of the General Executive Committee, who were sent to Chicago to settle the strike, left the city with bitter feelings toward Powderly. It is hinted that Barry is now inaugurating a crusade against Powderly.

A Nebraska Murder.

OMAHA, December 22.—A mysterious murder occurred Monday night at the farm residence of H. Buttenschon, three miles from Blair, Nebraska. Mr. Buttenschon, his wife and four children were sitting at the supper table when an unknown assassin fired a shot-gun from the outside through the window. Three bullets lodged in Mr. Buttenschon's head, killing him instantly. He fell forward upon the table, his face resting on his plate. The assassin then ran around the house and broke in the door. He was met by Mrs. Buttenschon with whom he was quarreling. He finally broke away from the pucky and determined woman and ran away. Mrs. Buttenschon gives a full description of the murderer. She says that she saw him walking on the railroad track near the house during the afternoon with a gun. No motive for the crime is known. Great excitement prevails.

Should be Built by American Labor.

READING, Pa., December 22.—The Boiler Makers' International Union adjourned this evening after appointing John J. Corrigan, of Chicago, and Christopher Connelly, of Hamilton, Ontario, as organizers to the territory west of Pittsburgh, and north of the Ohio river. It was stated that the San Francisco ship builders, who are to build the cruisers for the government, have taken steps to import labor from Europe. A petition will be sent to the Secretary of the Navy protesting against this action, and all Congressmen will be petitioned to pass a law requiring that the cruisers be built by American labor.

Pardoned by the President.

ST. LOUIS, December 22.—Obe E. Owens, receiving teller of the Third National Bank of this city, who embezzled about $200,000 of the funds of the bank, and has been serving a sentence in the Chester, Ill., penitentiary for that crime, was pardoned yesterday by the President. Owens has served one-half of a term of five years, to which he was sentenced. The President pardoned him on account of statements in several petitions sent from this city and Louisville. In granting the pardon the President said he thought the prisoner had already suffered a sufficient penalty.

Hung Himself.

PESCADERO, Cal., December 22.—Working John, a half-witted fellow, working for Mr. Colburn, near Pescadero, hanged himself this morning in Colburn's barn.

Candidate for Senator.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 22.—A rumor prevails here that Governor-elect Bartlett will probably be a candidate for the United States Senate.

Resignation Not Accepted.

BERLIN, December 22.—Emperor William has refused to accept the resignation of General Dannenberg.

Anti-Miscegenation Movement.

The anti-miscegenation movement begun in Boston and Cadiz parishes, in North Louisiana in July culminated last week in a grand gathering in Trinity, in Cataboula parish, at which there were present a large number of persons from that and neighboring parishes. The meeting was presided over by Hugh Watson, editor of the Cataboula Herald, and the orator of the day was General J. Floyd King, present member of Congress from the district, who declared that public opinion had the right to break up such a crime as miscegenation when it is brought to the attention of the people. All the leading ministers of the parish were present to give countenance to the meeting, and also a large number of influential colored men, who pronounced themselves opposed to a mixing of the races. A canvassing committee was appointed to solicit all persons to join the organization. Another meeting will be held December 27th, when a plan of campaign against the miscegenators will be arranged. It is probable that they will be boycotted, and when obstinate in following their mode of life, a committee appointed to warn them out of the parish. The movement has attained great strength in North Louisiana, nearly every parish having one or more anti-miscegenation societies, which have already accomplished wonders in breaking up intercourse between the two races.—N. O. Special to Chicago Tribune.

Sisters' School.

There will be an exhibition of the pupils of the Sisters' School on Alameda street this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. The exercises will be very interesting and attract a large audience.

AN APPRECIATIVE VISITOR.

A Good Letter About California from a Chicago Gentleman.

A brother of Mr. H. C. Witmer, of this city, recently paid a visit to Los Angeles, and on his return home to Chicago sends the following letter full of good sense and sound conclusions: CHICAGO, Dec. 16, 1886.

H. C. Witmer, DEAR BROTHER:—Arrived all right yesterday at 4, two hours' late. It is only about 4 degrees below zero and getting colder, if anything. Passed quite a number of excursions on my way to California, the one of 23 cars. The more I see of the east and of the people who are talking of California, etc., the more I feel sure of the idea that Southern California is just beginning to grow. Mr. Waters here says that there are thousands coming or booked for Los Angeles and Southern California this winter. Mr. Tabba was here this morning. He leaves next week with a party. Will get there Christmas night. Everybody on the train, all easterners but one, said that they were coming back to California to live. One of the men on the train was one of the organizers of the water gas company there. He came east to buy the gas plant; says they can furnish heat much cheaper than we can make it with oil; says they will be able to furnish heat for eight months. Met the emigrant land agent of the Santa Fe road; he was all through California. He says that real estate in Los Angeles he considers the cheapest of any city of its size he knows of. That doesn't speak for the place. The traveling men and all think that it will have a population of 100,000 or over inside of five years. So the reports are good on all sides. Tell Mr. Hall that I have struck lots of weather. Those who want the changes of the seasons can have them all for me. Your brother, J. M. WITMER.

MOROCCO RELIGION.

The Koran Does Not Exclude Female Souls from Paradise.

Cornhill Magazine. Sanctity in Morocco proceeds from various causes. You may be born with it, or you may get it at any time during your life.

What one might call congenital holiness is also derivable into two kinds. First, there are those who are more or less descended from the Prophet; these are the Sheriffs of highest pretension, and their sanctity is a very considerable source of income to them. They receive presents from all the faithful, and the most cheerful participation in all the times known to Islam and Christendom combined does not seem to jeopardize their title to holiness. For example, let us suppose a saintly descendant of the prophet—who most uncompromisingly forbids intoxicating drinks—is, by the most cheerful participation in all the times known to Islam and Christendom combined does not seem to jeopardize their title to holiness. ## Order to Show Cause

WHY ORDER OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE should not be made - IN THE Superior Court of the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

In the matter of the estate of JOHN B. BROWN.

Mary Brown, the administratrix of the estate of John B. Brown, deceased, having filed her petition for an order of sale of the real estate of said decedent, for the purpose therein set forth, and the court having ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said decedent appear before the said Superior Court on Monday, January 10th, 1887, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the courtroom of said Superior Court at the city of Los Angeles, in the county of Los Angeles, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said administratrix to sell so much of the real estate of said decedent as shall be necessary, and that copies of this order be published, and the Los Angeles DAILY HERALD, a newspaper printed and published in said county of Los Angeles, to publish the same.

Witness my hand and seal of the Superior Court, at Los Angeles, this 10th day of December, 1886. 016-17

CATARRH,

Consumption and Asthma

BRONCHITIS

TREATED SPECIALLY AND SUCCESSFULLY BY

W. W. DAVIS, M. D.,

40 1/2 N. SPRING ST. LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

NASAL CATARRH

Treated upon a new principle, founded upon the fact that the whole case is parasitic in origin. The parasites can be demonstrated by the microscope and will present the appearance shown below:

1. 2. 3.

4. 5. 6.

(PARASITES MAGNIFIED 400 TIMES.)

One difficulty in the treatment of this disease has been the inability to apply to the remedy to the whole case of inflammation. Another is the failure to use the right remedies.

The treatment consists in using medicines in the form of ointments which are warmed and sprayed through the head and throat, thus being almost directly to the spray can reach. The remedy remains in the head for some time, passes readily in vapor and reaches cells filled with mucus, impossible to be reached by medicine in liquid or powder form.

The treatment is pleasant and even children will take it readily after the first inkling of the relief it will give them.

Constitutional remedies are employed in the blood, etc. Patients can treat the selves at home when necessary.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

THE BENEFIT DERIVED FROM INSALATIONS.

In the Circle of Sciences we read this sentence: "The general effect of oxygen nature is that of a life-giving principle. Ever since the discovery of oxygen. Firstly, has been almost entirely neglected in the mind medical, for, since respiration, the process of administering oxygen to the tissues of the body through the agency of the blood (and in the lungs, purifying the blood) the thought has not occurred into the mind that in, in cases of disease, imperfect oxygenation, we could help to insure, in first place, and the large amount of oxygen, we would be wielding a weapon vast remedial effectiveness.

Great experience has shown this theory to be correct, and never have we seen a case of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, General Debility, or any other infirmity, properly administered, failed to relieve more largely. Its true that consumption in its early stages, and in some cases of the most rare instances, but our belief, founded upon experience, is that every case, from the most advanced, can be cured, and in fact, in the second stage, climatic influences being favorable.

General Debility of the patient can be sent to express in any address.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9, 1886.

Dr. W. N. Davis—Dear Sir: I wish to testify as to what your earb treatment has done for me. I was troubled with a cough and asthma for years, and as if death would be a relief. My sense of smell was entirely gone, and my heart and lungs were very much affected. Your treatment relieved at once, and in a few weeks entirely cured me and restored me to my former health.

FRISCOLLA DUDLEY,
R. Renshaw's office, No. 20, Downey block.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4, 1886.

This is to certify that I have been troubled with the cough for two years, my breath was off and I used different kinds of medicine and it failed to cure me. I went to Dr. W. N. Davis and he gave me the medical inhalation treatment, and I was cured in five days, and am now perfectly cured. The case was of years standing with the catarrh had better to consult Dr. Davis.

T. J. BAKER,
27 E. First street.

LOS ANGELES, June 13th, 1886.

Dr. W. N. Davis.

I was troubled with a bad form of catarrh of the nose and throat for eight years, and I am thankful to say that your treatment has cured me in a few weeks (eight weeks). My stomach was some affected, causing indigestion, which was cured. All these troubles were cured. I began treatment and felt better than since I was a child.

W. H. WILKINSON,
Figueras at near Ward.

This is to certify that I, a regular qualified physician, but not practicing, have always believed that the chronic nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but that I have been cured by your treatment and his success I applied to him for medicine and determined to try it in my own case. I have used it for some of the most satisfactory results, as improvement was immediate and once prescribed it I have never used any other. I am of good standing and a bad type. I can remember Dr. Davis to those similarly affected.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1, 1885. Pouet Block.

S. Haley testifies that he has been treated five months ago still a cure.

LOS ANGELES, July 4th, 1886.

Dr. W. N. Davis.

I have been troubled with catarrh of the dry variety for about five years, since three years ago. I was cured by your treatment. At any time I feel that I have been entirely cured by your remedies.

Yours truly, PETER WILKS,
P. O. Box 825.

LOS ANGELES, May 25th, 1886.

Dr. W. N. Davis:

Dear Sir: It is happy to inform you that your remedies have cured that terribly of sinuate catarrh of the back part of the nose. I have been cured of it for some time. It does not trouble me at all now and I have only taken your treatment about two months ago.

Yours, gratefully, M. S. HARRIS.

Art Studio 21 S. Bunker Hill Avenue.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10th, 1886.

Dr. W. N. Davis.

I was troubled with most catarrh of the nose and throat for about two and a half years, there always being a disagreeable feeling above the soft palate, and a disposition to clear the throat. Your treatment entirely cured me in one month.

Mrs. ANNIE TOLSON,
105 Olive street.

LOS ANGELES, October 2, '86.

This is to certify that I was troubled with asthma and bronchitis for one and a half years, and never was entirely free from it until I was cured by your treatment. I am self under the care of Dr. W. N. Davis as my inhalations gave me relief at once, and I am now perfectly cured. I can never feel better. I now believe that I am entirely cured.

J. H. DEVOY,
Ventura street and Vermont.

LOS ANGELES, January 27, '86.

This is to certify that I have been troubled for four years with bronchitis, and in a week I was cured by your treatment.

Dr. W. N. Davis, and have had no sufficient attacks since I commenced treatment. I can recommend Dr. Davis to any who are troubled with the lungs.

Mrs. M. S. STEVENS,
Ninth street, near Pier.

LOS ANGELES, February 3, '86.

Dr. W. N. Davis—Dear Sir: I am satisfied that I would now be dead with lung disease, which had troubled me for twenty years, had it not been for your treatment. I was a summer I was so low that I was unable to continue my trip East, after starting, and I could stand my business as well as to testify that I was entirely cured in three months, and found your charges very reasonable.

Mrs. H. P. MASTRARD,
22 Bernard street.

NAUTCH DANCE GIRLS.

A Performance at Once Artistic and Decorous.

Thos. Stevens in Boston Herald.

From the commanding summit of the Kootub Miner, I could see that the Delhi road was one mass of wheels and that the people in the teeming India do swarm on festive occasions—and thought, perhaps by high noon the pressure would subside. Instead of dimming, however, the swarms seemed to increase, and I determined to wait my way back as best I could against that winding stream of human beings. With this end in view I returned to the dark bungalow where I had left my wheel and found that "cycle of strange experiences" had succeeded in attracting to itself a less interesting gathering than a troupe of Nautch girls and their chaperones. The troupe numbered about a dozen girls. They had come to the merry-making to gather honest shekels by giving exhibitions of their terpsichorean talent in the Nautch dance.

I had been wondering whether an opportunity to see this female dance would occur during my tour through India, and so, when four or five of the prettiest of these dusky damsels gathered around me, smiled at me winsomely, ogled me with their bewitching black eyes, smiled again, smiled separately, smiled unanimously, smiled all over the semimahogany, but nevertheless not unbecomingly, and every time displaying sets of pearly teeth, what could I do? What could one do but smile in return?

There is no language more eloquent or more easily understood, under certain circumstances, than the language of facial expression. No verbal question or answer was necessary. I interpreted the winsome smiles of the Nautch dancers rightly, and they interpreted very quickly the permission to go ahead that revealed itself in the smile they had forced from me. Eight of the twelve were commonplace girls of from fourteen to eighteen, and the other four were quite handsome, as handsome goes among the Hindus. Their arms were bare of anything save of bracelets, and the upper portion of the body was but scantily clothed after the manner and custom of the Hindu females; but an ample skirt of calico reached to the ankles. Rings were on every toe, and massive silver anklets, with tiny bells attached, made music when they walked or danced. They wore a profusion of bracelets, necklaces of rubies, head ornaments, ear-rings and pendants, and a massive gold or brass ring in the left nostril. The nostril was relieved of its burden by a string that descended from a head ornament and took up the weight.

The Nautch girls arranged themselves into a half-circle, their scarlet costumes forming a bright crescent terminating at either end in a mass of spectators, whose half-naked bodies, varying in color from pale olive to mahogany, were arrayed in costumes scarcely less showy than the dancers'. The chaperone (a woman of appropriate Nautch accompaniment on a drum with his fingers, and four pretty girls advance from the half-circle, and, favoring me with a quartet of killing smiles and a quartet of coquettish glances from their bright, dark eyes, they commence the dance. An Indian seems to prevail in Occidental minds that the Indian Nautch dance is a very naughty thing, but nothing is farther from the truth. Of course it can be made naughty, and, no doubt, often is, but then so can many another form of innocent amusement. The Nautch dance is a decorous and artistic performance when properly danced; the graceful motions and elegant proportions of the human form, as revealed by lithe and graceful dancers, are viewed with an eye as purely artistic and artistic as the spiral movement of the sculptor's studio. Only the "British matron" would consider a Nautch dance in any degree indecorous. The four dancers take the hem of their red garment between the thumb and finger of the right hand, sprouting its ample folds into the figure of an open fan by bringing the outstretched arm almost on a level to the shoulder. A mantle of transparent muslin, fringed with silver spangles, is worn about the head and shoulders in the same indescribably graceful manner as the mantilla of the Spanish señorita. Raising a portion of this aloft in the left hand, and keeping the "fan" intact with the right, the dancers whirl around and change positions with each other, their supple figures meanwhile assuming a variety of graceful motions and postures from time to time. Now they imitate the spiral movement of the serpent, climbing around and upward on an imaginary pole; again they assume a charming posture, their dusky countenances half-hidden in seeming covey behind the muslin mantle, the large red fan waved gently to and fro, the face unmovable, but the undulating motions of the head and the tremor of the limbs sufficing to jingle the tiny anklets.

Imagine a bashful young man seated in a chair trying to maintain a purely judicial expression, while four dusky chaperons bring to bear on him the battery of their united charms, and all the arms and wiles of the Nautch girls' graceful profession. Imagine them looking as naughty as possible without really offending the proprieties, smiling at him roughly through a single fold of the transparent muslin and all the time going through the most graceful, most graceful-looking dancer near the finish of the dance making a doll baby of her mantle and for an instant holding it in the left arm. Only for an instant was this doll baby in existence, but its object was to relax the severely critical expression on the countenance of the bashful young man and force from him an involuntary smile and a consequent softening of the heart in the matter of bakshesh.

On the whole the Nautch dance would be disappointing to most people who are looking for its face leads one to expect more than it really amounts to. It is to be seen at its best nowadays in the zenanas of the native princes, where the dancers are arrayed in costumes more fitted to display the artistic gracefulness of the dancers than could be permissible in a public performance. The glistening smiles and glances, and the doll baby are, of course, infringements of the strictly artistic aspect of the Nautch dance; but these troupes of public performers are fallen angels mostly in whom these shortcomings are to be excused.

IN A SHAKY POSITION.

States that are Thought to Be in Danger of Being Swallowed up.

The inhabitants in the region between Charleston, S. C., and Atlanta, Ga., are slowly working themselves into the belief that they are living upon a very thin shell, and that any moment a vast caving in may take place completely engulfing two States and possibly tipping up several others. This belief is not founded upon a fact not developed by inferences. It is the result of empirical science. Facts are being gathered daily showing that an immense cavity exists in the earth in this quarter. A man in Laurens, S. C., dug a well down to a point where the strata of the pick produced a hollow sound, and finally the bottom of the well fell off. A line was produced, but after using all the clotheslines of the neighborhood no one could find where the bottom went to, and all hope of fathoming it was abandoned. In another town the pick produced a hollow sound, and finally the bottom of the well fell off. A line was produced, but after using all the clotheslines of the neighborhood no one could find where the bottom went to, and all hope of fathoming it was abandoned. In another town the pick produced a hollow sound, and finally the bottom of the well fell off. A line was produced, but after using all the clotheslines of the neighborhood no one could find where the bottom went to, and all hope of fathoming it was abandoned.

THE ETHICS OF HUGGING.

Learned Disquisition Upon a Very Popular Industry.

Sacramento Bee.

A few days ago a young gentleman residing on Polk avenue, hugged his grandmother with such fervor that three of the old lady's ribs were dislocated, and she now lies in a precarious condition. This, it is said, was a spontaneous case. Men have hugged the opposite sex with such ferocity as to endanger their lives, but then the operation was not performed upon the grandmother. About a year ago a young man in the East embraced his sweetheart, and when the hug was over he found that she had died. But she had long suffered from a disease of the heart; so he was only in part responsible for the melancholy occurrence. Hugging is a comparatively modern institution. Our ancestors never hugged. They calmly and demurely embraced. Now, here I pause to draw the line between the hug and the embrace. The hug is an earnest, quick, impetuous contraction of the muscles of the arms and chest when the object to be hugged lies within the circle, held by the arms, while the chest is the goal or final point of the hug. The warmth of the hug is determined by the extent of the muscular contraction. But the hug is not as anatomists assert, terminated when the object is brought in contact with the chest. On the contrary, the squeezing is but the shell of the operation. The kernel is reached when the space between the hugger and huggie is annihilated, and the blade of a knife could scarcely be inserted between both surfaces! This, it is, perhaps, the most dangerous stage of the operation. A pound, nay, a few ounces of extra pressure may result, if not in the displacement of a rib, at least in the bursting of a corset string, with the almost inevitable destruction of bangs, moustaches and such like headgear. The release, if not skillfully managed, is also attended with danger, and should be as gradual as the elementary pressure.

BLACK SEA HARBORS.

Very Extensive Works at Batoum and Novorossisk.

The Russians appear very much in earnest in obtaining two first-class harbors on the eastern coast of the Black Sea for as yet undeveloped resources of the Caucasian districts, we learn from a correspondent. The harbor works at Batoum are being rapidly completed, under the supervision and partly at the cost of the administration of the Trans-Caucasian Railway Company, who look for a great and lucrative commercial traffic through this port. The railway administration have now received from the Government a supplementary grant of 1,500,000 rubles and pledge themselves to complete the works within twelve months, when it is believed Batoum will be the finest harbor on the Black Sea. Novorossisk, situated higher up on the Circassian coast, possesses many advantages from its natural position for becoming a central emporium for the rich mineral district of the Upper Caucasus. Although its sea frontage has a natural formation admitting of the construction of a sheltered and deep water harbor, the necessary works are not likely to be completed before 1888. The Government has increased the first grant for this harbor from 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 rubles, and the works are being actively carried on. It is announced that the Great Russian Steel Company is to be amalgamated with the recently established Belgian firm of Messrs. Cockerill and Nicolaieff, with a capital of 15,000,000 rubles, and a branch establishment of the united firms, it is stated will be founded at Novorossisk, with a capital of 3,000,000 rubles. With the Brinsk supply of Russian iron, the plant will be able to supply the Russian Government with every requisite for shipbuilding, Russia, it is hoped, will be able at once to dispense with English or any other foreign marine engines and fittings. Another important item on the subject adds that Messrs. Krupp have accepted the terms of the concession offered by the Imperial Government for the erection of a gun factory at Nicolaieff, conjointly with Messrs. Cockerill. The latter report, I am in a position to state, is entirely correct. Messrs. Krupp have, at least for the present, and I believe finally abandoned all idea of establishing either separately or conjointly with Messrs. Cockerill any gun works at Nicolaieff. It is, however, true that the Krupps were for some time in negotiation with the Russian Government on the subject.—London News.

DEVoured BY A MANIAC.

A Madman Kills a Friend and Eats His Heart.

Dr. W. F. Richardson reports a most revolting and horrible murder as having occurred at Buck's Grove, Jackson county, where he was called to consult with Dr. Seaborn, of Holston, the coroner. Richard Clements was one of Jackson county's most respected farmers. Up to a very short time ago nothing was noticed to be wrong with him. During the past few days, however, his friends have noticed that his mind was not right, but they did not think of it as anything more than a passing fancy.

On Tuesday evening he attended church. At the conclusion of the service, he and Samuel Gordon, a neighbor, started for home. At midnight, nothing having been seen of them, the friends started in search. When found a horrible sight met the gaze. The body of Richard Clements lay on the ground dead. His under jaw had been cut off, his heart, lungs and liver had been dragged, and Clements was eating the heart. What seems strange and almost incredible is that the crazy man had no knife and had used none, but had so fearfully mutilated his victim with his hands and teeth. There was a dog along with him, and it is possible that the dog may have helped the madman in the terrible work, as it, as well as Clements, was covered with blood. The victim of this fearful tragedy is a man over sixty years of age, and had been a citizen of that neighborhood for many years. He has for years been a religious enthusiast and has frequently been called cranky on this subject. There are those who believe that on this fatal evening both were crazy. The case is a most singular one, and the only explanation of it is that they persistently kept together and evaded those who would have taken them in charge.—Kansas City Journal.

The Fuel of the Future.

It is a fact well known in manufacturing circles that the vast bulk of the heat contained in coal is wasted. Only four-tenths of the hundred parts of carbon are actually utilized. Hence one of the problems of chemistry has been to get more power in the way of heat and light, out of a given quantity of coal. Prof. T. S. C. Lowe claims to have solved this problem, a matter which is of vast importance to a nation. The process is to pulverize the coal, and in converting it into gas, the coal is reduced to a powdered form so fine that it will float in the atmosphere, and it is carried into the furnace by a current artificially produced. In the powdered form everything is consumed, as it makes no smoke and leaves no ashes. This waste, now piled up near coal mines and manufacturing towns, Prof. Lowe's invention goes farther. The coal is converted into a water gas. A ton of anthracite coal will generate from eighty to one hundred cubic feet of gas. The cost will be about nine cents a cubic foot. This invention is already in use in the city of Troy, in the laundries of that place, and is also used for power and for heating and cooking in hotels and restaurants. In heating of houses and the cooking of food, while one ton of coal will go as far as a hundred tons nowadays.

NORWALK NEWS.

A Fine Country for Raising Profitable Crops.

NORWALK, December 20, 1886.

EDITOR HERALD:—This section of our wonderful Southern California has received but a small share of the notice it deserves from the press of Los Angeles. It can only be accounted for by the fact that there has been as yet no speculative capital invested here, no extensive advertising of its vastly superior resources, no active agencies at work to publish its merits to the world. The town of Norwalk is only about sixteen miles from the city of Los Angeles, on the Santa Ana branch of the Southern Pacific railroad, and every one who will examine the surrounding country, from the foothills to the sea, being also acquainted with every other boasted region of this county, will be compelled to acknowledge that in fertility of soil, universality of productive power, charm and healthfulness of climate, broad sweep of beautiful scenery and general attractiveness for those seeking profitable as well as beautiful homes, there is no region its superior in Southern California. Here all the grains, including corn, yield the largest crops without irrigation. As Mr. Shorb once said, "There is no better grape country in the world." In fact, the vines here are more prolific than in any other locality in the county, and while this prolificity may be somewhat at the expense of the quality of the juices, for the manufacture of wine, for quantity as well as quality of raisins, there is no section its equal. Here, also, the orange and lemon will mature in most localities without irrigation, equal in quality to any grown in the immediate vicinity of the city of Los Angeles; and equally well the deciduous fruits. The extraordinary rich belt of which Norwalk is the shipping point and center, is more sheltered than any other town on this line of railroad from the occasional high winds which sweep through the Santa Ana Valley. The conformation of the surrounding country is such that these winds seem to divide their forces and pass on either side of Norwalk. To the southward is the famous artesian belt and town of Artesia, and to the northward, three miles off, the noted Fulton Iron-Sulphur Wells and health resort. Both these regions are tributary to Norwalk as a shipping point and for trade. Much of the land heretofore has been hitherto held in large tracts, but the holders are now consenting to divide them up to some extent and to sell off some of their surplus acres. These lands can be bought in tracts from 10 to 80 acres at from one-half to one-third the prices asked and paid for inferior land in localities which have been struck with a "boom," and this too with an abundant supply of water at hand without the necessity of paying such enormous prices as are paid for it on all the mesa lands. Upon these lands there is nothing that grows anywhere in Southern California that can not be produced here in perfection, in greater abundance and with less cost than anywhere else in the country. The town of Norwalk is delightfully situated and is destined to rival Pasadena in time as a better center for trade and equally desirable place of residence. Town lots may be bought here now at a merely nominal price, and that too in the very center of the future bustling suburban city. There is an opportunity immediately offered for a most profitable investment in a large and commodious hotel, the grounds for which, it is understood, will be donated. At present there are no adequate accommodations for the increasing tide of travel.

The soil being a sandy loam, mud is unknown even after the heaviest rains, and the smooth, level roads towards the seashore offer drives of unequalled excellence and attractiveness. There is much need here of the construction of a large winery for the consumption of the yearly increasing grape crop. Such institution would prove immediately profitable with an opportunity for almost unlimited increase. If anyone has the mistaken idea that this is a region of fog he should have been here on the glorious morning of today. While on the lower lands bordering the coast lay a literal sea of fog, here the sun rose bright and clear, greeted by the songs of innumerable mocking birds and larks. Let some of the large number of home seekers, weekly arriving in Los Angeles from the bleak region of the States east of the Rockies, once visit this favored and unsurpassingly rich region, and they will be hard to suit if they cannot find here a place for a home at a price which will certainly double before the coming year is ended.

"On the Rio Grande."

The excellent Lamb & Jordan Price Company gave this thrilling border play at the Grand Opera House again last night. The gallery was well filled and testified its appreciation of the play and the way it was presented in no dubious manner. The lower part of the house was not large, but what it lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. Mr. Price, the author of the piece, is decidedly a good actor, so is Mr. Lamb as the cute Yankee trader "Mr. Byall." Mr. Jordan as "Harold Rapley" is also excellent. In fact the whole cast is good and the play well worth seeing.

The Topolobampo Club.

There was a meeting of the Club last night at room 57 of the Baker Block, at which about thirty ladies and gentlemen were present. It was stated that there are now about 300 people at Topolobampo Bay, who are busy putting up temporary quarters for the emigrants. They have bought a small vessel for use in the harbor. The statement was also made that a party of intending settlers had left from the State of Massachusetts for the bay. Another meeting will be held by the Club, when some more important news, which is expected from the scene of operations, will be communicated.

SITUATION:

Only one-half mile from center of city, on level ground, bounded by railroad on one side, and almost adjoining the recent purchase of the A. & P. Railroad, which is to be used for a Union Depot, on the other. It is so near the business center of the city that (even with the Second Street Cable Railroad, which will be soon built and in running order) that the walking distance is so slight one would very seldom use the cars.

AS AN INVESTMENT

This property offers more inducement than anything that has ever been offered at public auction in this city. Situated right in the heart of the city, it is not only desirable for residences, but warehouses, stores and manufactures will soon be built on the Alameda street front. Any one purchasing may safely calculate on doubling their money within six months. Remember, this property is so close to center of city it will always steadily improve; and, as our city grows, so will the values in the BLISS TRACT increase. With our population at 100,000 this property will be worth five times what it will sell for at auction.

SHIP BUILDING.

An Industry Almost Extinct in this Country.

AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE.

What Ought to be Done to Secure a Steamship Line to Brazil—and Commerce with that Land.

I have read your instructive article published under the head of "Suggestive Facts," on the 30th ultimo, with much interest, and fully appreciate your very timely suggestion that "We really do need something in the way of coast defense." Mr. Tilden made that very clear in his letter of December 1, 1885, to Speaker Carlisle, and the subject has been mentioned in congressional debates, but nothing has as yet been done—all of which is much to be regretted.

In the matter of American ship-building, on the other hand, which you also mention, there does not really appear to be much cause for regret, if the subject is closely examined. Excepting the monster steamships on the Atlantic of the Cunard type, which carry a very small percentage of the world's ocean freight, and which our capitalists do not for very excellent reasons care to invest in, and heavy iron-clads, which Congress appropriates no money for, the American ship-builders are doing a fair business, both for home and foreign account.

Steel and iron steam vessels of any class, from the ocean steamship down to the modern steel barge that will soon be placed on the Mississippi, can be and are built in this country in direct competition with the best builders in Europe. The Delaware can hold its own with the Clyde, though it does not build so many vessels.

The Pusey & Jones Company, of Wilmington, Del., represented by the writer, has built over one hundred steel and iron steamers for Mexico, Central and South America and West India ports, and has nearly twenty-five years of this number thirty-seven were built for and are now in the service of the Amazon alone. Not long since we sold two steamers to an English company in London. We have built engines and gaubans for our own government and the governments of Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia, and the latter in direct competition with English builders. At the same time we have had a fair share of home work. We built all of the steamers of the Cromwell line, between New Orleans and New York, except one. There has been some improvement in steamship building since they were built, but they are good vessels now. We have also built the United States steamship Albatross, the first ocean steamship ever built and equipped expressly for scientific exploration of the sea, and which is pronounced by competent judges to be the best of the English steamship Challenger, which was fitted out for the same service.

The New York Herald of May 14, 1883, notes the fact that the vessels of four nationalities—United States, Brazil, Venezuela and Mexico—were on the stocks in our yard at Wilmington, Delaware, at that time. Those vessels called away from our works, were finished, under the flags of their respective nationalities.

Mention is made of thirty-seven of our steamers in service on the River Amazon, on pages 21 and 22 in the Brazilian official publication, compiled by Acting Secretary Gomer, of the Brazilian Legation at Washington, with a "view of promoting the commerce, immigration and internal improvements of the Empire," and published by order of the Minister of Agriculture, Commerce and Public Works, for circulation in this country. I quote:

"Brazil has four great rivers—the Amazon, Tocantins, Parana and St. Francisco—besides numerous smaller ones that are also navigable for large steamboats. The Amazon, rising in Peru, offers a channel of steam communication across the widest part of the continent from the Atlantic Ocean to within a few hundred miles of the Pacific; and with the Tocantins, serves as a means of communication between the Provinces of Peru, Amazonas and Goyaz, part of the Province of Maranhão and Mato Grosso, and the Republics of Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia. The Amazon and its tributaries offer, on Brazilian territory alone, a length of 27,000 miles navigable for large river steamboats."

"A large number of enterprising steam navigation companies and firms are engaged in the navigation of all the principal rivers of the Empire. Among them may be named the 'Campanha Fluvial Paranaense,' the 'Campanha Fluvial do Alto Amazonas,' the 'Amazon Steam Navigation Company, Limited,' the 'Tocantins and Rio Negro Fluvial de Albuquerque Torres,' 'Companhia Navegacao a Vapor Amazonas,' and the 'Companhia Navegacao Para e Amazonas.' Thirty-seven of the steel and iron steamers used by these companies were built in the United States expressly for Brazilian river and coastwise service by the Pusey & Jones Company, of Wilmington, Del."

The above, it should be borne in mind, is from a Brazilian official publication. Turning to the official record of our own government, we will find by reference to the report of the Secretary of the Navy, transmitted to Congress by the President, with his annual message, in 1879, that Commodore Thomas O. Selfridge, United States Navy, made a survey of the Amazon and Madeira rivers on board the United States steamship Enterprise in 1878, and in his report incidentally mentions his experience on board one of our steamers on the Amazon and other matters of interest, as follows:

"The survey of the Madeira being completed, so that we could now proceed to the first river steamboat to ascend the river and join the steam launch in the survey of the remaining portion of the Falls of Santa Antonio; and, on July 4, went on board the sidewheel steamboat Canaan, an American-built iron sidewheel boat, drawing about seven feet loaded, and constructed after the pattern of our Western river boats, with separate engines. This American type, not found in any steamer of English build, is the great favorite among steamboat owners and pilots of the Amazon and its tributaries, and I doubt if any more steamers for river navigation are ordered in England, unless there is great difference in price in their favor. Life on board the river steamers of this country is decidedly cosmopolitan. No steamers or boats are needed, for no person in this country travels without his hammock, known as rede, which, upon coming on board, he hangs in such part of the upper deck as best suits him. Life is a cleanly arrangement, giving much room, and better suited to the climate."

"I find among the merchants of the Amazon and Madeira a most excellent feeling toward the American products of manufacturers. The demand for them is constantly increasing. The trade of the country is mostly in the hands of old Portuguese firms. What America wants is a more extended demand for her products, and this can in most cases be best realized through the agency of the old-established native firms."

"It is vitally necessary, however, if the United States will take its share of the foreign business of Brazil, to create avenues of trade by which it will flow to our shores. There are, first of all, well-established lines of steamships—fostered by the government in order to compete with the old-established European lines, until the trade directed by them to our country will enable them to take care of themselves."

"These should also be telegraphic communication between the two countries. To the energy of our own countrymen we are indebted for the first successful Atlantic cable. Why cannot one be laid direct to Brazil?"

"A bank, through which exchanges could be favorably made, is also very necessary for the easy flow of commerce. But especially it must be remembered that frequent, regular and rapid steam communication is absolutely necessary, first of all, no matter how excellent our products of manufacture may be."

This extract from Commodore Selfridge's report of 1879 is about as good reading as any one interested in our South American trade would wish to have, even now in 1886.

The world is full of those who are constantly telling us how not to do it, and that it cannot be done! Writers have for years past been treating ship-building in the United States as a "lost art," and yet Commissioner Patten, of the Bureau of Navigation, states in his interesting report that there are upward of 25,000 American built steam and sail vessels afloat in American waters to-day. To meet the requirements of the war and fear of this immense fleet and the demands for increased water transportation requires the construction of at least 4000 American built vessels annually.

I am showing what the American ship-builders are doing—leaving it to others to tell us what we cannot do. The gunboat Bayana that we built for the Colombian government four years ago, started out from our ship yard at Wilmington, Del., on a trial trip of 14,000 miles down the Atlantic coast, through the straits of Magellan, and up the Pacific, and arrived safely at the Isthmus, where it gave such satisfaction that the government came to us whenever it is in want of anything in the line of ship building or heavy machinery. There are those who make it their business to decry every American industry in face of such facts as these. The sugar industry does not by any means escape.

THE DELEGATION OF LOUISIANA SUGAR PLANTERS.

That appeared before the ways and means committee last March, presented convincing evidence that with proper encouragement from Congress the Gulf States would be able to supply all the sugar consumed in the United States; and yet we have a "free sugar" party among us—journalists who claim that the tropical cane cannot be our main dependence, and that Congress must "place sugar on the free list" and depend upon the meagre bounty-fed beet root of Europe for our main supply.

Fortunately these croakers who spend their time in decrying all our home industries do not represent the public sentiment either North, South, East or West.

I have shown that the American ship-builders, speaking for the oldest and one of the largest firms, are able and willing and ready to do their part in bringing up American industries and assistance from Congress.

I wish as much aid be said for the unfortunate American ship owner, who is compelled to sail his steamers under our own Stars and Stripes. Congress has indeed been "a cruel stepmother to him," as was well said by the New York Herald of May 30, 1883, in discussing the needs of our foreign mail service.

Other interests are properly cared for by Congress while the unfortunate ship owner is compelled to stand out in the cold. The railroad corporations are paid a fair rate for carrying the mails, while the ship owners are not. Until the passage of the Frye-Dingley shipping bill, which has removed nearly all of the most grave burdens the ship owners were compelled to endure, the law made the carrying of ocean mails compulsory on the part of owners of vessels carrying our flag.

If Congress will only make the necessary appropriations to pay the owners of American ships for carrying the mails, the proposed line from New Orleans to Rio de Janeiro, and a number of others, will be at once established.

"They order these things better" in Brazil. I have before me two official documents, published by the Imperial government. Touching the experience of trade, it quotes as follows:

"The Empire of Brazil does not profess a policy of protection; nevertheless, in consideration of the question of freights on coffee to the United States it saw that the establishment of a line of steamers under the American flag, in competition with English steamers, would produce a reduction in freight rates, and therefore determined to grant a subsidy to a new line. The result justified the expectations of the government, and the rate of freights, which eight years ago was seventy-five cents to one dollar per bag of coffee by the Eastern steamers, has fallen to an average of forty cents, and cargoes have been brought as low as ten and fifteen cents. It has been said of such cargoes that it actually cost less to bring them from Rio de Janeiro to New York than to transport them after their arrival from Brooklyn to the railroads in New York or Jersey City. The truth is that the expense of the subsidy has been a profitable one to Brazil, since it brought about so marked a difference in the freight rates, a difference which more than balances the tax laid to pay the subsidy."

Touching the question of making New Orleans the great distributing centre of coffee, I quote as follows:

Supporting freights from Brazilian ports to New York and New Orleans are the same, the consumers could then decide whether to continue to pay the excess of cost of transportation by rail over that by river. Any one can compare the cost of these different freights, and the result of such comparison is so clear that it is not necessary to enlarge upon it.

Nevertheless, three-fourths of the importation of Brazilian coffee is turned away from the course of the great river which is its most natural means of transportation, as well as the cheapest for that whole region, arrives almost entirely at the place of consumption, by way of Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville, Memphis, etc., after transportation for a great part of the way by rail from New York to the Valley of the Mississippi.

these and other equally pertinent facts, that it is about time now to move further in establishing the long-deferred American Steamship Line between New Orleans and Rio de Janeiro and intermediate ports. The American builders are ready now to furnish the steamships at short notice. It only remains for Congress to do what is right and fair to the owners. C. D. CONK, Representing the Pusey & Jones Company, builders of steel and iron steamships. —Washington Letter in New Orleans Times Democrat.

In Exile.

I see a fire in the air; I count each dear, accustomed chair, The gentle glance, the furtive gaze, I see it all, and would I were there.

The children climb their father's knees; The mother strokes her baby's hair; In happy groups of two and three; They laugh and chat—would I were there.

The lamp, its mellow radiance sheds; The freight flickers softly where Two little brown and golden heads Are slowly bent at evening prayer.

What of the lonely leagues between? I see it plain—I see it fair! I see who am myself unseen— For oh! my homesick heart is there! (Anna F. Burnham.)

MONTE VISTA

THE MOST ATTRACTIVE COLONY IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA!
BECAUSE IT HAS

A Perfect Climate! The Best of Soil! The Greatest Abundance and Purest of Water!
And the Most Delightful Situation of Any Tract of Land on the Coast!

Fogs do not smother;
Frosts do not blight;
Scale does not bother,
And the dollars are in sight,

—IN—

BEAUTIFUL, HEALTHY MONTE VISTA

MONTE VISTA

Is situated twenty miles by road a little west of north of Los Angeles City, between the Verdugo mountains and the main chain of the Sierra Madre, and embraces the entire valley between them. It is six miles east of San Fernando, and four miles west, on the western slope from Crocota Cañada. The S. P. R. R. is four miles distant and a fine road has been constructed by the new Monte Vista Land and Water Company from the town to the station of Monte Vista, bringing Los Angeles within one hour's ride of this most delightful colony.

THE MONTE VISTA TRACT comprises an area of about 2300 acres of rich sandy loam soil. Of the entire acreage 1300 acres are first-class irrigable land, having a gentle slope to the south and west. About 500 acres are upon the hillsides and classed as non-irrigable land, although the soil is equally good and a very large percentage is capable of cultivation. The remainder is rough land, suitable only for forest trees. Nearly all the lower grade of the Monte Vista is on the north side of the Verdugo hills, which form the boundary of the tract. While the land is rolling it contains innumerable springs of pure water, which, with a little trouble, can be developed to such an extent that the owners are independent of the water supply of the colony. The division of the tract, aside from the town site, is chiefly in twenty-acre tracts, having a broad avenue on the four sides of each forty-acre; less than twenty acres are sold to suit the means or desires of purchasers.

The town originally comprised forty acres, to which the new company have added additional forty acres, which are sold in building lots 50x150, and villa lots of one acre each. In the center of the town plat and including about ten acres is the famous live-oak grove which for more than half a century has been known as TUJUNGA PARK. The company are now improving this, the finest of live oak parks in Southern California, and intend to make it one of the loveliest spots in the State. There is no day in the year and no time in the day when a delightfully cool breeze, gentle and refreshing, is not perceptible here. Fifteen to eighteen hundred feet above sea level and protected by the great mountain chain of the Sierra Madre on the north, walled on the south by the Verdugo Mountains, and on the east by the great divide connecting the two, the climate of Monte Vista is free from blighting frosts, settling fogs, or the hot winds prevailing in many places in the country. All this means health, wealth and plenty.

MONTE VISTA FOR HEALTH.

If there is a cure for disease in pure, dry air, pure, clear, soft mountain water, warm, sunny days, cool, delightful nights, delightful surroundings, good accommodations, excellent care and attention, then Monte Vista should be the Sanitarium of the World.

PRACTICAL MONTE VISTA.

The soil of Monte Vista is a very rich sandy loam, and in places gravelly loam. It is deep and warm and retentive of moisture; so that, even if there was no water excepting the natural rainfall, it would be capable of growing every known fruit grown in California.

THE MAGNIFICENT WATER SUPPLY.

Of Monte Vista is sufficient for ten times the irrigable land in the tract, and the probabilities are that one-twentieth of it will be sufficient for all purposes. WATER, SOIL, ELEVATION and CLIMATE for the Orange, Lemon and Lime. Every requisite that can be desired for perfect, large, clean and highly-flavored fruit. Soil and climate for the highest degree of development of the FIG, which is destined to be one of the most important of California's fruit products. RAISIN GRAPES have grown to absolute perfection, and there is every requisite of climate for their perfect curing without interference of fogs or rain. Climate and soil for the early and perfect maturing of the OLIVE, one of the most valuable products of the State. Forty acres in one tract now growing in Monte Vista will challenge the admiration of every one who understands the exacting conditions required by this fruit. Elevation and soil for the growth and maturing of APPLES and PEACHES, PRUNES and PLUMS, APRICOTS, NECTARINES, and the most difficult of all fruits, the ALMOND. Soil, elevation and climate for the absolutely perfect WINE GRAPE. No land which possesses all of the exacting conditions which are found in Monte Vista exists elsewhere in Southern California. One place lacks climate, another water, another general situation and another all combined. While we have named the above special adaptations, we have reserved the most important to the last. For Monte Vista we claim that it will within seven years be shipping to the markets of San Francisco the

FINEST CHERRIES GROWN ON THE COAST.

We claim that it possesses every requisite of soil, climate and situation for the growth of the PERFECT CHERRY, which is worth per acre three times as much as the orange, five times as much as the grape, and ten times as much as the apple, while the cost of cultivation is less than either of the two former. In short, Monte Vista has every requirement for people of means who wish to make money by growing fruits, and in the near future the finest packed goods, canned and preserved goods of all kinds, will be grown and prepared in Monte Vista and be a source of health to those engaged in the business.

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE.

The Monte Vista Land and Water Company, since they acquired the property in July last, have built three miles of road to the San Fernando valley, opened fourteen miles of street sixty feet wide, handsomely furnished the present hotel building, and now have fifty thousand feet of lumber on the ground for the erection of an elegant hotel, which will equal anything in the State in comfort for its guests, excellence of the table, etc. All the company's lands now cleared will be put under the highest state of cultivation possible. A two-thousand-dollar subscription for a church is well under way, half a dozen cottages are already engaged to be built during the winter, and many other improvements are under way.

MONTE VISTA THE ROMANTIC.

From the head of Summit avenue, looking westward, the entire tract of Monte Vista, including the beautiful Tujunga Park, is in full view; the Verdugo hills, the San Fernando mountains, the great wash of the Tujunga, San Fernando town and the eight by twenty miles of wheat fields of the San Fernando valley lie directly under the eye. From the Park and Hotel Monte Vista, looking northward, rise the giant bulwarks of the Sierra Madre, broken only by the great chasm of the Tujunga, which clefts in twain the pine-topped peaks which rise pile on pile through the range to the Mojave desert, some thirty five miles.

From Monte Vista a trail runs to the summit of the highest peak overlooking the valley, and from this point, 5000 feet above sea-level, is one of the grandest views imaginable. Northward the rocky and rugged peaks of the Sierras rise in confused masses and here and there their precipitous sides are covered with forests of sugar pine. In years gone by many of the gloomy canyons whose lines can be dimly traced by the shadows, have echoed to the pick of adventurous prospectors, some of whom left their homes a prey to the mountain lions and coyotes. To the south and west lie the valleys of San Fernando and Los Angeles, with all the magnificent line of plains to the coast. Upon a cloudless day the islands off San Barbara and southward to Catalina are in full view, and every vessel passing up or down is plainly visible. The shipping at San Pedro and the whole coast line for a hundred miles seem to lie at your feet. Eastward and southward the San Gabriel valley, Pasadena, Pomona valley, Riverside, and the mountains of Temescal, San Jacinto and San Diego, with their infinite variety of light and shadow, present a picture once seen never to be forgotten. Around

THE MAGNIFICENT TUJUNGA PARK, which lies in the center of the old town site, cluster many romantic events. There, forty years or more ago, the old Spanish Don overtook his beautiful daughter and her lover in their flight, and, despite her pleadings, put him to the sword. Vasquez and Murietta, the famous robbers, here had their rendezvous and her buried vast sums of money, which is believed to be here still. So famous is the grand old park as a HEALTH RESORT that it has for fifty years been visited by the Spaniards, who credit it with being the abode of the Lady of Mercy. Spanish maids weave fanciful fairy tales of it for their charges, old men recall it as the scene of many a merry-making, and the scholars laugh as they relate again their conquests beneath the old trees whose shadows yet greet the advent of tender spoons and give grateful rest to the tired invalid. Handsome fountains will soon add new charms, where beautiful flowers will brighten the sombre hues and gladden the eyes.

But Go to Monte Vista.

SEE MONTE VISTA BEFORE YOU BUY ANY PLACE ELSE!

You can get the best of land, with or without water, at lower prices than anywhere in the county, when the value is considered. IT IS A PLEASANT DRIVE of two and one-half to three hours from Los Angeles, and you will find excellent hotel accommodations—good, new beds, good table, etc. You will find sign-boards every mile to Monte Vista.

YOU CAN GO TO MONTE VISTA:

First—By stage from Los Angeles, which leaves Los Angeles on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, from the office of the Monte Vista Company. Returning, leaves Monte Vista on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Second—By private conveyance, following the county road northward along the S. P. R. R. to first, Glendale, Verdugo cañon and the south line of Crocota Cañada, to the Summit, and thence to Monte Vista; or, second, follow same route as above, except just before Glendale is reached keep to the left and follow the railroad and county road to the north line of the Providencia Rancho, then keep the right hand road to the Bg Tujunga Wash, then turn to the right and follow the road east through the valley to Monte Vista. This is a delightful road for the greater part of the year; in summer it is somewhat sandy, but not more so than the Verdugo road.

WONDERFUL MEMORIES.

People Who in One Gift Have Greatly Exceeded the Masses.

In many ways the mental capacities of individuals differ, but how that difference arises will always remain one of nature's secrets.

Lord Macaulay had a most powerful memory. Should he read a book once the contents of it were never afterwards forgot, but were always ready to be reproduced. Some one doubted this fact, and asked him as a test, to name the Archbishops of Canterbury. This he did, along with their dates, and never made a slip, even although he had never seen them tabulated, but had read them as isolated facts in the course of his general reading.

Mr. Woodfall of the Morning Post, who lived in the last century, when it was illegal to publish or even take notes of the speeches made in St. Stephen's, could go and hear a debate in the Lords or Commons, and thereafter return to his office, where he dictated to the printers the speeches he had just listened to. His accuracy was remarkable, and in compliment to his ability he was known as "Memory Woodfall."

Dr. Johnson was a man of similar capabilities, and it was by the aid of his retentive memory that the London newspapers before the time of Woodfall were informed as to the speeches made in the two Houses of Parliament.

Certain painters, draughtsmen and sculptors after attentively considering a figure are able to draw it from memory. Gustave Dore could do this with great exactness. Sir Noel Paton, the ethereal artist of present day fame, draws all his pictures on this principle. For nights in succession he dreams of the same subject, and, when all is faithfully imprinted on his memory, he reproduces his visions on the canvas. And who can deny their grandeur?

Abercrombie, in his writings, tells us of an artist who copied from recollection, and without the aid of an engraving, a martyrdom by St. Peter, by Rubens, with so perfect an imitation that on the two pictures being placed beside one another considerable attention was required to distinguish the copy from the original.

Mozart had an extraordinary memory, as is seen in his numerous religious writings out of "The Miserere." This piece was performed in the Sistine Chapel, Rome, and no one was allowed to possess or try to copy any part of the music while in the church. Mozart attended the services, listened with rapture to the singing, returned home and wrote out from memory the music of the whole cantata. So well was the work done that the keeper of the church was on the point of being tried for perjury.

Boethoven, after he was deaf, could remember all the combinations of notes and tones in his works. And yet we can use such a compass in them, and even are unable at times to comprehend their intrinsic merits.

Sir Henry Holland relates a curious story regarding his memory. On one occasion he was traveling in the Hartz mountains in Germany, and while there had to visit the famous salt mines of that country. When in the mines he was overcome with fatigue and entirely forgot his German. His guides were at their wits' end, for Sir Henry could only order in English. At length spirits were procured and he began to revive, and with his bodily revival his German vocabulary returned.

The story of Guilio Guidi, an Italian, is a sad one, and shows that too strong a memory may partake of the nature of a disease. This man could repeat 36,000 disconnected words after hearing them once, but was incapable of originating an idea he might turn his own. Men-trier could repeat 300 disconnected words, and to all appearances Nature had been kinder to him, for he has left a niche in the temple of fame. The generals of antiquity were famous for their strong memories. Cyrus, King of Persia, knew the name of every soldier in his army, and Themistocles could run over the names of 20,000 citizens of Athens. Last century the public offices of Denmark were burned to the ground, and among the property so destroyed was an account book which, if there had been no means of reproducing it, would have entailed a heavy loss to the government. A reporter for the person of one Niebuhr, a clerk in the offices, was, however, found, and he restored from memory, all the missing accounts. Niebuhr, in later years, made his mark in philosophy.

Fascial, one of the most renowned of German writers, could remember everything he had read or was told. His knowledge lay before him like a chart.

A Scotch professor prides himself on being able to recognize the faces and recall the names of every student who has been in his class, although he has been a lecturer for eighteen years, and having on an average 150 students each year.

Readers of the life of Palmerston must have been struck with that politician's retentive powers. On one occasion he was called upon to defend his foreign policy, and he is reported to have spoken for eight hours. His speech was not simply made up of words and platitudes, but facts which required minuteness of detail and a degree of manipulation that could only have been had when the memory was very powerful and elastic in reproduction.

Dr. Beattie, who was renowned for his Greek scholarship, once received a severe blow on the head which greatly affected his memory. He forgot all his Greek.

Dr. Leyden could learn a language in a week, and was able to repeat, word for word, a whole Act of Parliament. Should, however, he forget any part, before he could recollect it it was necessary for him to begin at the beginning and repeat the matter until he again came to the part he wished to know.—N. Y. Sun.

A Good Official.

Hon. Thos. Gates, an old time Angeleno who was last Spring appointed Superintendent of the Territorial Prison of Arizona, appears to be winning good opinions from both Democrats and Republican newspapers, as appears by the Yuma Sentinel (Rep.): "The improvements going on at the Territorial Prison are rapidly converting that institution into one of the most perfect reformatory institutions on the coast. The prisoners are confined in large and well ventilated cells and fed with an abundance of wholesome food. Their spiritual welfare is taken care of by frequent visits from Rev. Father Chanolet of the Catholic church and Rev. H. J. Ehlers, the Presbyterian minister. A large and carefully selected library, stocked with the best of books, is at the disposal of the prisoners. The treatment of the prisoners is as kind and liberal as can consistently be given and yet keep them under thorough control. The wall surrounding the prison is now completed and the stations all substantially built at points commanding the yard and surroundings. On the north side it was necessary to build a stone wall from the river bank to the foundation of the outer wall. The work is a magnificent piece of masonry and will stand for time eternal. The electric lights have been so rearranged that the entire yard and every nook and corner of the prison is brightly lighted. There are six lamps in all of 2000 candle power each. The main electric mast stands some forty-five feet in height and gives a beautifully clear and steady light, the brightness of which lights up the streets of the village. Within the past month a roadway has been completed from the south side of the building around the water tank and north wall, in completing which it was necessary to cut through solid granite. The workshops, dining room, cells and in fact the entire institution is a model of cleanliness and neatness. The clothing of the prisoners is now made up in the prison workshops, and the wood and iron work manufactured "on the hill" is first class in every respect. The den appears to be well situated with their treatment and surely their government has been entrusted to a capable and intelligent management. Great credit is due Hon. Thos. Gates, the Superintendent of the Territorial Prison, for his wise and economical administration and he may well feel proud of his success as an energetic and faithful public officer."

Margery's Quest.

After in the hazy distance,
The mount, insidim and blue;
A stretch of rippling wheat fields,
With breezes rippling through.
Nearer, the widespread meadows,
With their fragrant heaps of hay;
At over all, the blue of sky,
Of a cloudless summer day.
Maid Margery wanders slowly
Adown a lane near by,
With eager gaze she's peering
A four-leaf clover to spy.
And now she finds the treasure
And hides it in her shoe;
And earnestly she wishes
The hope of her heart prove true.
There are steps in the lane beside her,
A form beside her own,
And a manly voice is speaking
In an earnest, tender tone.
Needs not the charm of the clover,
Within her shoe concealed,
To bring to her wish the answer,
That the tone of his voice revealed.
Dim grew the distant mountains,
The wheat fields are at rest,
And under the sky of evening
Maid Margery ends her quest.
[Laurie W. Moo choose.]

Dr. Henley's Nourishing and Stimulating Remedy.
The great remedy known as Celery and Iron, is a gentle stimulant as well as being nutritive, and all who have used it pronounce it to have been taken with excellent results especially when taken for brain trouble, nervous prostration or disorders of the stomach. Celery, as a cure for nervous affection, is invaluable. Beef is the most nutritious and invigorating food for the brain, there is nothing better than prophecies of iron.
